Water Safety Poster Contest Winners

Although the snow and ice have not yet melted, the past month has nevertheless been a busy one for the Marine Division of the Crawford County Sheriff's Department.

Since the first of March, officers of the Marine Division have been conducting Pleasure Boating classes for students between the ages of 12-16. Held at the Crawford-AuSable Junior-Senior High, this year's classes have been more successful and well-attended than in any year previous. Successful completion of the course and the final examination entitles the 12-16 year old to operate a motorboat of any size, regardless of horsepower. Without a safe boating certificate, indicating completion of the course work, people under 16 must be accompanied by an adult supervisor when operating a boat of over six horsepower.

The six-session course is designed and sanctioned by the Boat and Water Safety Section of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The classes cover prudent boating operations, first aid, boat equipment, numbering, and registration. Those Crawford-AuSable students between the ages of 12 and 16 who have not already done so are urged to make arrangements to take this handy and valuable course in marine safety.

EXTEND USE OF STUDDED TIRES

The use of metal-studded tires on Michigan highways is permitted until May 1 according to State Police officials.
To hard hit snow-belt areas in outstate areas this may be a welcome reminder as spring weather tarries. In many snow free sections of the state, motorists are already removing the studded tires from their cars and trucks.

Michigan's Motor Vehicle Code spells out specifications for the studded tires and allows their use on state roads from November 1 to May 1.

Easter Seals

Last year thousands of children were killed in unavoidable accidents and thousands more crippled. The Easter Seal Society works to rehabilitate many of these children with funds contributed to the annual Easter Seal campaign. Advice and guidance to assist parents, employers and other persons in understanding and accepting the crippled and finding a needed treatment for handicapped is available.

Researchers are at work at universities, medical schools and hospitals to find ways to prevent or alleviate the crippling and for providing the educational, physiological and social adjustments of crippled children.

More than 100 projects have been financed by Easter Seals. When you give you help expand research that will prevent crippling and give handicapped children a chance at productive living.

Our nation needs more than 150,000 added teachers of handicapped children to meet the needs of approximately five million children of school age says the Easter Seal Society, March 1 thru April 11.

Cancer Drive Underway

The ninth annual kick-off luncheon for volunteer workers for the Crawford County Chapter of the American Cancer Society was held Thursday, April 1, at Chief Shoppengons Motor Hotel.

About sixty-five people attended the luncheon which began the 1971 Cancer Crusade, which is held annually during the month of April. It was sponsored by the Grayling State Bank and Arnie Mauren and was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. B. E. Henig, chairman of volunteers, welcomed the group and Father Louis Ivondic gave the invocation.

Donald Brewster, executive vice-president of the American Cancer Society, Michigan Division, of Lansing was present, as was District Representative Mike Taylor of Cadillac.

Mr. Brewster gave a short talk, giving interesting facts and excerpts from a speech given at the State kick-off luncheon held in Detroit the previous week.

Many people feel that there will soon be a cure for cancer. When that time comes, the board of directors of the American Cancer Society will meet and decide on disposition of any remaining funds before disbursing.

Miss Mary Noa gave an interesting talk on her experiences at the kick-off luncheon in Detroit which she attended as Crawford County's "cured cancer" representative.

Mrs. Wesley Hayes, crusade chairman, reviewed the material in the kits for volunteers and distributed the kits. Volunteers will be distributing literature as well as soliciting funds.

Awards were presented by Mr. Brewster. Receiving five-year pins were Mrs. Edna Babbitt, Mrs. Loretta Christian, Mrs. Fran Hanson, Mrs. Arlene Halstead and Mrs. Judy Pettyjohn.

Chairs for serving 10 or more years as a volunteer were presented to Mrs. Ruth Caid, Mrs. Nancy Cox, Mrs. Evelyn Garland, Mrs. Margie Harwood, Mrs. Mary Houle, Mrs. Eleanor McIsaac, Mrs. Betsy Millikin, Mrs. Shirley Rauch, Mrs. Mildred Johnson and Mrs. Irene Wyman.

Mrs. Hayes received a plaque in recognition of her two years as crusade chairman, 1970 and 1971. Mrs. Shirley Rauch will be crusade chairman for 1972.

It was pointed out that there is a new instrument which takes most of the discomfort away from the procto examination. It is suggested that you ask your doctor about it when you have your annual checkup.

Public Discovering Anti-Pollution Costs

(By Sen. John Toeppe)

Michigan residents are beginning to learn that cleaning up the environment is going to cost money.

When the hue and cry first arose to clean up pollution, warnings were issued that there would be some costs involved but many of the warnings were ignored in the rush to equate clean environment with motherhood and country.

But now the Water Resources Commission is cracking down on communities all over the state that are lagging in providing adequate pollution control systems.

State and federal grants now cover 55 per cent of "eligible costs" of each sewage treatment project.

That leaves about 45 per cent to be picked up from local sources.

Among communities now wrestling with the problem are Roscommon, Lapeer, St. Ignace, Owosso and Gallien; townships of Elba and Mayfield in Lapeer County, Northfield in Washtenaw County and Niles in Berrien County; and Wayne County.

School To Offer Upholstering

The Crawford AuSable Community School Program will be offering a course in furniture upholstery. Classes will begin on Monday evening, April 19, 1971 and will continue each Monday and Thursday evening for a five week period. The class will meet in the high school shop from 7 to 9 p.m. Cost of the class will be $15.00, plus any materials which the individual student might wish to use.

In this first class in upholstery, each person will learn how to upholster a chair. Some students will even have the opportunity to upholster their own chair during the class sessions. Registration for this class will be on April 19, during the first class session. However, should you wish to reserve a spot in the class to be sure that there will be room for you, call 348-3281 and ask that your name be placed on the pre-registration list for the upholstery class.

CANCELS VISIT

Due to the Easter Recess of the Michigan State Legislature, Representative Louis K. Cramton (Republican-Midland) will not be making his usual visit to Grayling and Houghton Lake on April 12. He will resume these visits with the residents of the area on the first Monday in May.

Assessing Practices May Be Studied Soon

One of the most frequently voiced complaints of property owners in Michigan deals with property assessment procedures, according to our State Senator John F. Toeppe of Cadillac.

The problem is one of the most universally misunderstood operations of government. It results from the 1963 Constitution, approved by the people, which ordered the legislature to require that property be assessed at up to 50 per cent of market value.

The legislature, on orders of the people, gave the charge to the state tax commission.

Assessments have risen sharply all over the state, as a result of the elimination of many inequities, Senator Toeppe said. The House of Representatives is considering a resolution to create a special committee to study the statewide problem.

Wakelay-Road Vows Spoken

Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Donna Lee Wakelay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wakelay of Grayling, and Carl Alan Road, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Road of Frederic, on Saturday, Feb. 27, 1971. Rev. Paul Frederick performed the seven o'clock ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dirndl skirted floor length gown of organza over taffeta. It featured a mini empire bodice of French lace with a scalloped neckline and Victorian sleeves. Lace motifs complemented the skirt and a removable lace-edged chapel length train further enhanced the dress. A pearl-edged petal styled headress secured her bouffant veil of bridal mist illusion and she carried a bouquet of red miniature roses and white mums.

Gloria Road, sister of the groom, of Frederic, was maid of honor and Paula Lovely of Grayling was bridesmaid. They wore radiant chiffon pant-formals with gold metallic braid trim on their mock boleros, which had deep-cuffed full sleeves and high necklines. They wore matching camelot hats with veils and hair trim to complete their attire.

Curt Morency of Grayling served the groom as best man. Groomsman was Richard Meyers of Frederic and ushers were Cecil Martin of Frederic and Edward Southwell of Grayling. A reception was held at the American Legion Hall following the ceremony.

The bride and groom took a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and are now at home at 406 Elm St. in Grayling. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wakelay chose a blue knit dress. Mrs. Road wore a brown suit for her son's wedding.

Mrs. Don VanNocker informed us on Thursday that she had seven crocuses in bloom in her yard, East of town on the river. They are next to the house where the snow has melted and are three different colors, also her Star of Bethlehem is up real nice and she had two robins in the yard.

The Wednesday night bridge club met last week at the home of Mrs. Derek McEvers. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harry Souders, Mrs. Dale Pettengill and Mrs. Leonard Knibbs. The next meeting will be on April 28 at the home of Mrs. Richard DeBois.

C. to visit friends. Ken and Margaret then drove to Lewisburg, N. C. to visit his sister, who was in the hospital there. They found 16 inches of snow there, after all farmers had plowed their fields. They returned to Washington, where Margaret's parents had stayed visiting relatives, and all flew back to Detroit, then the Chappells drove home. On Tuesday evening they had Mr. and Mrs. Tim Thomson of Newberry as their overnight guests.

Diary of Our Destiny

Scriptures selected by the American Bible Society

Thus begins the most amazing account of human experience ever written. And so simply, with just a notation of time: the hour, the day, the very moment!

But like a church bell sounding its call to worship, that simple notation of time has become the clarion of a New Life.

So deeply has it penetrated our preoccupation with the routine of every-day existence that millions gather at sunrise to greet the dawn of each Easter Day.

What has given such meaning to one moment in time?

Its PROMISE: Christ is risen. The One Who said, because I live, ye shall live also—He lives!

This tremendous moment, for all who worship Him in faith, became the first entry in the Diary of our Destiny.

Easter Sunday

Easter is almost upon us again. In the Christian world, Easter Sunday commemorates the Resurrection of Christ. Easter customs, as we practice them in the U. S. today, are a singular tribute to the spirit of Easter and to the quiet freshness of a Spring morning when one can almost feel, for a few hours, the pervading sense of tranquility and consideration of our fellowman that 2,000 years ago released humanity from the bondage of sheer barbarism.

Many capture the spirit of Easter by going to Church. The simple Easter egg hunt and the tradition of the Easter bonnet lend joy and color to the occasion. All of the ways in which Easter is observed hold a certain humility — as they should. Easter is a day of civilizing influence. It is merely one day out of 365, but it is a day that expresses the way we should live throughout the year — in humble respect for the unseen power that guides our lives.

Look Again

Critics of the "establishment" — considered to be the entire business and industrial structure of the country — charge that it contributes nothing to the solution of today's most pressing problems. Yet, look what happens when there is a slight slowdown in business. Suddenly government tax revenue falls off, and government at all levels is more hard-pressed than ever to pay its bills. Deficits climb.

Time magazine reports, "The fiscal-1971 deficit is the unforeseen result of a $20 billion forecasting error; Nixon had originally budgeted a $1.3 billion surplus. His projections were knocked askew by the recession, which is holding revenues about $8 billion below early estimates and forcing higher spending for such things as unemployment compensation and interest on the national debt."

The greatest asset any country can have is prosperous, taxpaying enterprise — the kind that the dissidents call the "establishment". Without such enterprise, it is idle to talk of progress — social or otherwise. Even a minor recession makes what should be a self-evident truth stand out in bold relief.

ENDERLIN, N. D., INDEPENDENT: "A television commercial for one of the congressional delegates indicated there is room for hope yet. The candidate, speaking about pollution, noted that 'it was so bad in Washington that it made one sick.' So what else is new? Some legislators in Washington have been making their constituents ill for years."

Loans May Attract Small Town Doctors

Most smaller communities in Michigan share many problems in common and one of the most vexing frequently is the inability to attract professional personnel to practice their skills in the smaller towns, especially medical skills.

Many chambers of commerce and other local booster-type organizations have set up their own medical committees, with the task of attracting new physicians. And usually, to their credit, the existing physicians in these smaller communities have endorsed and even helped in the recruitment effort.

It's a tough job—but an interesting glow appears on the horizon, which may turn into a beacon.

A couple of medical students at Wayne State University have approached several searching communities with their proposal. In essence it goes like this: Lend us money now so we can finish our medical education, and in turn we'll move to your community after we finish our training.

According to the reports we read, a mutual interest has been sparked, and what is hoped to be meaningful dialogue—so to speak—appears in the offing.

It sounds like an excellent idea, and we hope it not only works but will expand to still other medical schools and other doctor-hungry communities.

That's the essence of progress anyway—where resources and needs mix and match.

Michigan State University, we hear, has turned down a proposal for nearly-mixed living in University housing—that is, where women students and men students would live in alternate apartments on the same floor of university housing.

We applaud the negative decision. There's time enough after graduation to live close by members of the opposite sex, without going into the moral questions involved in the proposition in the first place.

What does disturb us, however, is the attitude expressed by Don Stevens, chairman of the MSU board of trustees, who favored the mixed-up living arrangement.

Stevens was quoted as telling the committee which proposed the change: "Have patience. We're going to get to the 20th century someday."

And then came Stevens' clincher, according to the printed quote: "I'm against old men and old women conjuring up rules for young men and women to live by."

What Mr. Stevens is actually proposing, it seems to me, is anarchy. Age is the barrier point in the case at hand, but age is only one of many criteria which could be inserted in this philosophy of governing—a philosophy of rule-making which seems to be getting a widespread workout these days.

by Richard L. Milliman

To follow the Stevens approach to its logical conclusion, everyone should be free to make his own rules of conduct, and to change these rules at will, without regard for anyone else. Mr. Stevens, of course, is not alone in holding such a view—if that is, indeed, really what he means to say.

Of course, if Mr. Stevens really is against "old men and old women conjuring up rules for young men and women to live by," he should turn his rule-making spot on the board of trustees over to some student at MSU... or even work to abolish the board of trustees and let the students run their own university.

A recent headline reads: "Muskie's Drive Slumps, but He Plugs On."

The story, of course, is about the hopeful presidential fortunes of Maine's Sen. Edmund S. Muskie. The papers and the commentaries these days are filled with similar stories, talking about both parties and their races for 1972.

That's right: 1972. We still have almost two years to go before the next presidential election, and already some presidential drives are slumping. In Michigan, we'll hear lots of similar stories about various senatorial drives as well.

Which goes to show that the public's tolerance for politics is exceeded only by the media's glee in speculating about it.

Which will tire first? It won't be the media.

Consumers Want to Know

By MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

When the hang-tags on a garment read "home launder only," does that imply that it should not be dry-cleaned?

Yes. It should not be commercially laundered or dry-cleaned.

What is a bonded fabric?

A bonded fabric is face fabric backed by another fabric to give added body and stability. The backing is usually a tricot fabric applied by chemical adhesives. It helps the fabric to hold its shape. In sewing, the bonded knit fabric handles like firmly woven fabric.

What does "Professionally clean only" mean on a garment label?

That means "do not use self-service dry-cleaning."

Is it really necessary to remove clothes from a dryer immediately when tumbling stops?

Many older models of clothes dryers do not have a cool-down cycle. When the tumbling stops, the warm clothes drop to the bottom of the drum and will become very wrinkled. So, you save on ironing if you remove the clothes before this happens.

Are disposable diapers, sheets and other such products actually made of paper?

Nonwoven disposable fabrics are produced by bonding together a mat of natural or man-made fibers. They are softer in feeling than paper.

If an individual, or an organization, wants to participate in trash collection efforts, how would you go about it?

Call your local newspaper office, radio and TV stations to find out if such a program exists in your community. Some communities have Environmental Action Coalitions that sponsor a "trash in cash" program. The Boy Scouts and Garden Clubs of America have initiated programs in some areas, too.

TIPS ON QUITTING CIGARETTES

1. Pick a Q (Quit) Day.
2. Switch to a low tar-nicotine brand, and begin to cut down BEFORE Q Day.
3. Keep a supply of substitutes handy: mints, gum, celery, carrot sticks.
4. Quit on Q Day; use substitutes when the urge to smoke is strong; keep busy; pamper yourself with special meals; drink plenty of water, exercise.
5. Renew your resolve daily. Think over the health hazards of cigarettes.
6. Plan a treat for yourself with the money you used to spend on cigarettes.

"If It Fitz . . ." —

A Night With Aunt Ella

By Jim Fitzgerald

The plan was to tunnel out of the country and go see Aunt Ella. Peace.

But first, reservations were necessary. I phoned in my name and a question came back: "Are you any relation?"

"Yassuh, Boss," I answered in my Georgia accent.

My goodness, an ethnic joke? Shoot me.

Ella Fitzgerald isn't really my aunt. I just like to say she is because it would be groovy to be related to the best jazz singer in the world. For several years, I think my kids believed me. Then they got older and noticed that Ella was black and I'm not. That's what happens when kids grow up. They learn Dad isn't Superman, he's a phoney.

Anyway, Aunt Ella was singing at the Elmwood, that huge barn of a nightclub in Windsor, Canada, just a few minutes under the river from Detroit. My wife and I had to go. And if a "Yassuh, Boss" would get us a seat nearer the stage, it would be worth the bruise to my liberal dignity. Heck, if it meant getting nearer Ella Fitzgerald, I'd order watermelon and tap dance on the table.

As it turned out, the headwaiter wouldn't have been impressed if I'd been Aunt Ella's long-lost father returned from 86 bleaching years in the desert. But he understood the dollar bills sticking from between my fingers. He grabbed one end of the bills and I didn't let go of my end until he had seated us close enough to reach out and touch Aunt Ella.

Oh my. Aunt Ella was only great. I couldn't describe that lady, whether she is skit-skating or ballading. You had to be there. One for instance: the finest song written in years is the Beatles' "Something." Until you've heard Aunt Ella sing it, you haven't heard it.

The warmest, most magic moment came at the end. Aunt Ella sang "Put a Little Love in Your Heart." She jazzed and souled that song so that your skin prickled and you couldn't catch your breath. And, as she sang it, she weaved along the edge of the big stage and reached out and touched hands with her fans. She reached out and touched white hands and black hands and she said put a little love in your heart.

Over 700 people stood up and reached out and seconded Aunt Ella's message: "Love is the answer; Brotherhood will conquer all if we'll just give it a chance."

Simplistic, right? A common trick of many entertainers. A lot of emotional malarky that sounds great to an integrated audience juiced up on jazz and booze. But when you wake up the next morning there's that lousy taste in your mouth. You know Aunt Ella is right on. But she's a sweet dreamer.

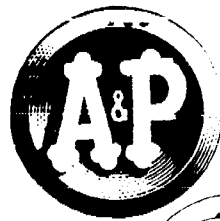

The next day, still humming "Put a little love . . .", it was back to my desk and this lovely note from a reader: "Government by law is trying to force whites to love, mix and mate with a lazy shiftless bunch of darkies that love to rape, knife, burn, kill and rob."

How would you like to pry a little love into the heart of the jerk who wrote that?

Nevertheless, I'll dream along with Aunt Ella. Please pass the Love.

Jack Pine's Stump

The other day I idly watched Tom St. Germain try to clear snow from the slits which hold the hidden windshield wipers on his car. The heavy, wet snow completely stopped all action of the wipers and Tom had a good many comments to make. He's pretty proud of that Mercury of his, but recently told me that he found out the factory was recalling it. When I asked him why, he replied, "The Government found traces of tuna in it."

That's bad, Tom. But then this is a bad time of the year. Call it spring madness, cabin fever or any name you want, but people and business are slow in Grayling. Cheerfulness seems to be packed away for one of those rare sunny days. But, then, what can you expect? Too cold for spring work, too late for skiing and snowmobiling. Rust shows on the cars, and the city streets are an obstacle course. Taxes have to be paid, and we just got through with the license plate bit. Plans are being made for a summer which seems as remote as Christmas. Fishing season opens in a couple of weeks — with prospects of high and cold water.

Jim Lagrow at Bill's Laundry says his business is smitten by the same general lethargy. Thursday is usually his best day — and the Thursday just past he says is the worst in a long time. He thinks that people are afraid to put away their winter clothing yet — and just haven't yet started to do spring house-cleaning.

— JP —
Bill LaChappelle, from Chief Shoppenagot Motor Hotel, and I were talking about all this the other day and he grumbled that there ought to be a bounty on those who still have bumper stickers which read "Think Snow."

— JP —
Ross to his secretary: "Who told you that just because I kissed you a couple of times you could neglect your work?" Secretary: "My Attorney."

— JP —
The cartoon which is below is purposely untitled. It was drawn by Doug Zill who, like the rest of us, drives city streets. Would like to have some good suggestions from the readers as to a caption. One already in says, "If you think a Church is holy, try driving Grayling streets." Which is a pretty appropriate title as we approach Easter. But to give credit where credit is due, the City is making an attempt to ease the agonies of the cars. Patching is being done — and, while not permanent, it certainly does help. At least Norway can be used again.

— JP —
And lastly, since there isn't much else to do these days, I'll talk about dancing — which I don't do at all, but like to watch. Most younger people seem to go into a trance — faces immobile, no pleasure showing at all — even though it must be there. But older people, my age type, doing the same sort of dance will show all sorts of animation and obvious pleasure. But then, that may be because we're so pleased we are able to dance at all.

Solid Waste Management at County Level

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

I attended the session on solid waste management at Farmers Week last week. Fred B. Kellow, Chief, Environmental Health Planning Unit, Michigan Department of Public Health gave his views on waste disposal.

He looked to county-wide waste management systems as the best method. A county wide system is much more efficient than many small units. Processing and recycling of wastes, already becoming important, requires central collection over a considerable area. Land acquisition is less difficult for a county than for individual units.

New and forthcoming technical developments are furnishing some solutions to previously difficult problems. For example, tree grinders are now available which grind every part of a tree in a very short time. In the Lansing area, a tree grinding company is finding markets for all the components of trees removed from the area. Several counties might work together to keep one machine at full capacity.

Eaton and Clinton counties hired an engineer which has duties to the department of public works and with the drain commission.

Those counties make an appropriation to pay the engineer and for the operation of the Department of Public Works. They expect that revenue from the land fill will be self supporting once they are in full operation. They charge so much a load for everything that is brought into the land fill.

Beware of Kite-Eating Trees; Electric Poles and Wires

Somewhere in your neighborhood lurks the terrible-tempered, kite-eating tree. Its appetite for string, glue, paper and thin wooden strips is insatiable.

What's worse is that it may devour its own weight in just one good, gusty sunny day, without fear or favor among its true friends — the kids who fly those kites.

M. D. Porter, Consumer Power Company's Cadillac District Manager, has the clue for discovering the whereabouts of that indiscriminate kite-eater. "You will recognize the kite-eater by the small pieces of string dangling from its limbs or the various pieces of colored paper impaled on its branches," Mr. Porter said.

"It's bad enough to have a tree with such a dietary deficiency, but even worse are the poles and wires which account for the loss of hundreds of kites each spring," he said.

The danger here, as Mr. Porter points out, is that kites, when flying near electric wires, pose a danger far more serious than any kite-eating tree; especially those kites which have metallic string or other metallic parts. "The rules are simple," he said, "but children have to be reminded each year."

- Here are his five rules of kite-flying safety.
1. Fly your kite away from streets and highways.
 2. Fly your kite away from electric wires, telephone wires and TV antennas.
 3. Do not use a kite which is made with metal parts.
 4. Use cloth or plastic string to fly your kite. Metal or wire strings are very dangerous.
 5. Always fly your kite on days when there is no rain.

Letters of Interest

April 1, 1971

The Honorable Senator Phillip Hart United States Senator Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Hart, I deeply resent the trial and conviction of Lt. Calley as a victim of the system. Our system, I believe, is the best in the world, but this is a sorry hour.

In 1945 I was in the Marine Corp on Iwo Jima and at any time, given the opportunity, I could have killed every man, woman and child in Japan. I deeply applauded the action of President Truman, along with millions of others, on his action with the bomb which must have been premeditated.

I urge you to do everything in your power to overturn the sentence of Lt. Calley. I would appreciate your stand in this matter.

Sincerely,
Kenneth F. Chappell

ABWA Meets

The March meeting of the Grayling Chapter of the American Business Women's Association was held at the Arrowhead Inn on March 16. There was a good attendance of members and guests.

Guest speaker for the evening was Donald Czernik of the Michigan Employment Security Commission in Traverse City. He spoke on the work done by the MESOC and of some of his personal experiences. He is to open an office in Grayling within the next few weeks.

As this was the first meeting for the new officers, plans for the year were outlined by president, Mrs. Emil Kraus. The District Convention will be held May 14, 15 and 16 in Buffalo, N.Y., and it is hoped that a delegation from our chapter will be able to attend.

The March Hand of Friendship Tea will be held on March 21 at the Kraus home with Mrs. Therese Goss as chairman.

We will have a rummage sale on Saturday, April 3, in the old Grayling State Bank building and it is hoped that this will further our scholarship fund.

The next meeting will be our first annual "Boss Night" and will be held at Chief Sheppens Motor Hotel at 6:30 on April 20. Mrs. Russell Wright is chairman of the affair.

A Miracle Drug

A wise public health official once made a startling statement about cancer: "If someone invented a drug that would cure half of all cancer cases the excitement would be beyond belief. We have such a drug: It is communication."

The truth of that statement lies in the fact that half of all those with cancer could be cured if the disease were found soon enough and received prompt treatment. At present, only one-third are being saved, mainly because people don't go to the doctor in time for early diagnosis.

So we are faced with a massive problem of communication and motivation. What this means in terms of human lives is that about 104,000 cancer patients died in 1970 who might have been saved by earlier and better treatment.

During the month of April, the American Cancer Society conducts its annual educational and fund-raising Crusade. Volunteers will be spreading the word that annual health check-ups, including cancer tests, can save lives. They will be distributing leaflets which tell about the Pap test that has already helped save the lives of thousands of American women because it can detect cervical cancer in an early and highly curable stage.

The volunteers will ask you for funds to support the American Cancer Society's threefold program of education, research and service to cancer patients. They will urge you to have a health checkup now — if you have not already had one — and do so every year. We urge you to do both.

Don't miss it!

Estimated Tax Due

Detroit, Mich. — Persons required to make a declaration of estimated federal income tax for 1971 must file Form 1040-ES and pay at least 25 percent of the estimated tax due by April 15, 1971.

Thomas A. Cardoza, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, said self-employed persons must include their self-employment tax in computing estimated tax.

The estimated tax package, which contains four vouchers and pre-addressed envelopes for use in making the declaration and subsequent installment payments, was sent to those who filed a declaration last year as well as to others who, according to IRS records, may be required to file. The package also contains a worksheet and instructions to compute the estimated tax liability.

Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," which furnishes detailed information on this subject, can be obtained by sending a post card to your District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

PACK 93

The 1971 Pinewood Derby will be held in the High School gym on Thursday, April 22, at 7:00 p.m. (Note time change). The cub scouts will race first followed by the adults. Our starter once again will be Eldon Norman. We hope to have officers from our Sheriff and Police Departments as judges.

Here are some rules to remember:

1. Cars must not weigh over five ounces. Loren Goodale at the Sears Store is our official weighmaster. Cars may be weighed anytime during store hours.
2. The nails should be glued to the axles. This prevents the losing of wheels during the race. Do not glue or hang anything under the car except the axles.
3. One minute pit stops are all that's allowed during the race, so be sure you put them together good.

There will be no styling competition this year, so you may write your name on your car.

Racing, as we all know, is a spectators' sport so we would like to invite everyone to come and watch America's biggest, little car race!

CARD OF THANKS

My deepest thanks to Dr. Dosch and Dr. Burkley and the Hospital staff for their care; and the cards and gifts from my many friends; Rev. AuMiller and neighbors for their help while I was in Ann Arbor.
